Atlantic Specialty has collaborated with International NGO's to help develop reliable supply for this rare offering. Flores coffee is often sold in local Jakarta markets as commercial grade "Sumatra." The traceable supply and promotion of our Blue Dragon ensures more value finds its way to the growers of this exotic coffee.

On the upland plateau of the Ngada regency, nestled against the Mt. Inerie volcano, our "Blue Dragon" coffee is harvested and processed in the town of Bajawa and plays a very important part in the local economy. Our coffee is harvested & pulped with minimal water. It is dried to roughly 35 to 40% and wet hulled (aka. "Giling Basah.")

The cultivars that make up Blue Dragon are Linie S 795, Typica and Tim Tim. LS 795 is a variety that was developed in India and is locally known as Jember. LS 795, or Jember, is also known for being one of the first varieties highly resistant to coffee leaf rust. It is a cross between Kent, a typica mutation, and S 288, a naturally occurring C. arabica and C. liberica hybrid.
